

SOMALIA:

VOICES FROM THE FRONT

Kenya Defence Forces campaign in Somalia is the powerful setting for this book which stands different from the official version in that it records the introspective voice of the individual combatant. The author draws deeply from his own experience in the theatre, his psychology back ground and deep spirituality. The book therefore is an essential read for anybody who has interests in the profession of arms, psychology, historical Somalia, modern terrorism or who needs to delve deeply into the lure of radical Jihadism as fronted by the Al Shabaab of Somalia.

Col (Rtd) Joseph Mulowa Owuoth is a combat veteran of the Somalia theatre. Post retirement, the author is now a director of a private security company, a counseling psychologist and a writer. His written works have periodically appeared in the East African weekly magazine short story segment. This is his second book in 2024 coming shortly after the release of Solja! - Diary of a private security guard.
