THE CENTREPIECE

One called it a force

Greatest upon the earth

Pulling hearts together

The tie-post of the soul.

Another claimed it's the ultimate

The game changer on life's sea

The north star and a compass

Guiding sailors to their shores.

I thought it's the origin

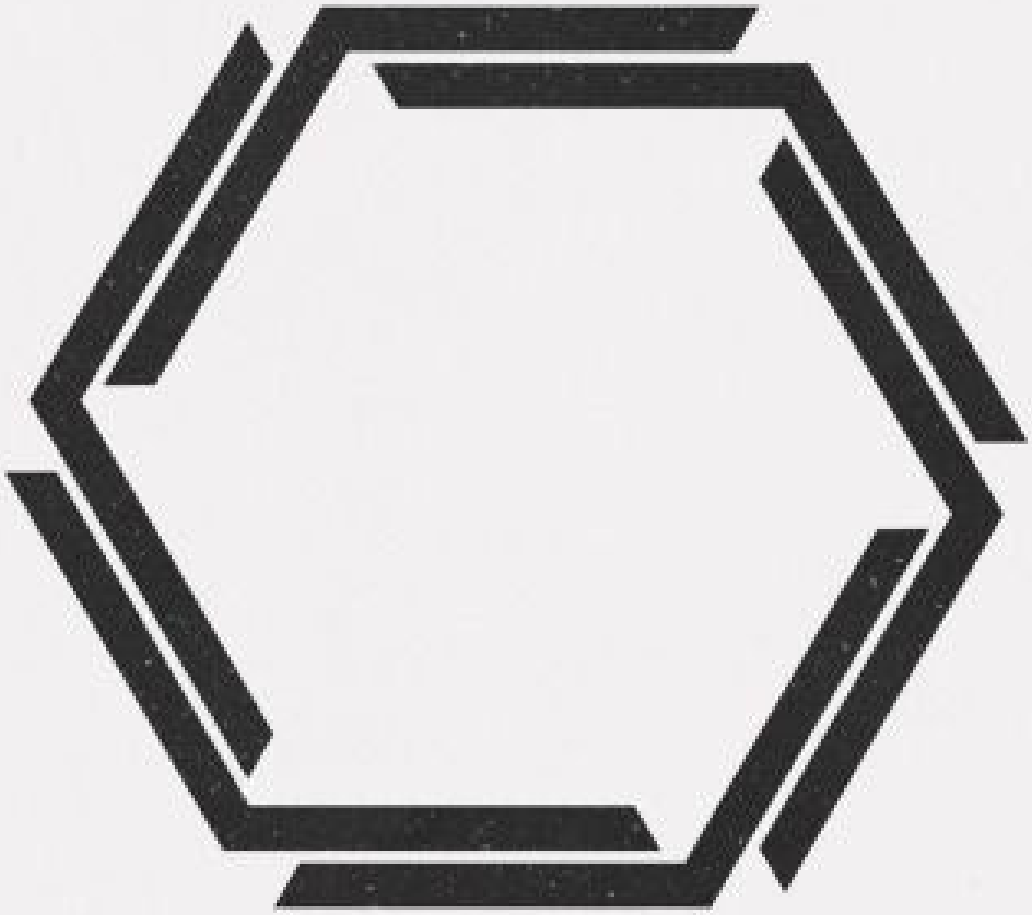
Where the breakthrough begins

That starting right with it

A crown of victory is the end.

But now I know it's love

The centerpiece of it all

That when hearts begin to wander


Firmly holds them altogether.